COM FINANCIAL AID PROGRAMS:

College of Medicine Scholarships

Merit Scholarships
Merit scholarships are offered to entering medical students based on a review of a student’s total application, including the academic record and personal qualifications. All students accepted by the College of Medicine are automatically considered for a merit scholarship, whether or not they submit a financial aid application. Merit scholarships are renewed annually if the recipient remains in good academic standing. Recipients of these scholarships are notified by the Admissions Office.

Need Based Scholarships
Medical students with high financial need are awarded need-based scholarships before they are awarded institutional need-based loans. All students who submit parental financial information are automatically considered for these scholarships. Awards are announced in the financial aid award letter.

Schiff Family Scholarship (Schiff Scholarship)

University of Cincinnati Long-term Loans
Eligibility: Based on financial need. Students wishing to be considered for this loan must submit both student/spouse and parental financial information.
Interest Rate: 7%. Interest does not accrue while recipients are in school, grace or residency deferment.
Deferment: Recipients are eligible for up to three years of deferment during residency.
Amount: $5,000 annual limit.
How to apply: Indicate you wish to be considered for a UC Long-term Loan on the UC Financial Aid Application. The loan is announced on the financial aid award letter. The Promissory Note and required disclosures are completed after the start of the school year.

University of Cincinnati Short-term Loans
Eligibility: Loans are intended to assist students facing a financial emergency and are not based on need.
How to apply: Contact the Director of Student Financial Services.